PENFIELD TOWN BOARD NAMES TOWN CLERK
- Retiring Town Clerk’s position filled through year-end -

PENFIELD, N.Y., MARCH 31, 2009 – Penfield Supervisor George Wiedemer and the Town Board have chosen Amy Rosenbaum Steklof to complete the term of retiring Town Clerk Cassie Williams. Williams will retire effective June 30, 2009; her term expires December 31, 2009. After an extensive interview process, the Town Board selected Steklof, a Penfield native with experience in education, administration, records management, and community and public service, to fill the open position. As Town Clerk, Steklof will further a family-wide commitment to public service. Her father, Richard Rosenbaum, is a retired New York State Supreme Court Justice and author. Steklof is also the sister of Matthew Rosenbaum, past Penfield Town Councilman and current New York State Supreme Court Justice. Ms. Steklof will run for election in November 2009 to continue in the role of Town Clerk. The Town Clerk’s term is four years.

“As a lifelong Penfield resident and graduate of Penfield schools, I welcome this opportunity to give back to the community,” said Steklof. “As Town Clerk, I will look into extended hours to make business transactions with the Town more convenient for families. I would also like to investigate the benefits of developing E-business options to determine if online transactions make sense for the Town and taxpayers.”

Supervisor George C. Wiedemer says, “Ms. Steklof’s experience with records management, administration and community involvement will serve residents well. Her interest in extending Town Clerk business hours is consistent with the Town’s commitment to excellent customer service.”

Ms. Steklof and her husband, Kevin Steklof, financial adviser and president of Steklof and Co. Insurance Agency, Inc., live in Penfield. They are the parents of three children who have attended Penfield schools.

Ms. Steklof will assume the Town Clerk position effective July 1, 2009.

###

Media Contacts

George C. Wiedemer, Penfield Town Supervisor 585-340-8631
Phyllis Ely, Communications 585-340-8647